POLICY

VillageCare and its affiliated entities (“the organization”) are committed to complying with the requirements of Section 6032 of the Federal Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 and all other federal and state laws prohibiting fraud, waste and abuse in seeking reimbursement under the Medicaid and Medicare programs, and to preventing and detecting any fraud, waste, or abuse in the organization. To this end, the organization maintains a compliance program and strives to educate its work force on fraud and abuse laws, including the importance of submitting accurate claims and reports to the Federal and State governments. The organization’s compliance policies and procedures are set forth in detail in its compliance plan, and in the employee handbook provided to each employee.

The organization prohibits the submission, including any deemed knowing submission of a false claim for payment from a federally or state-funded health care program or insurer. Such a submission is a violation of Federal and State law and can result in significant administrative and civil penalties under the Federal False Claims Act, a Federal statute that allows private persons to help reduce fraud against the United States government. The organization also prohibits the submission, including any deemed knowing submission of a false claim for payment from a private person or payor.

In furtherance of this policy and to comply with the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005, the organization provides to employees, officers, directors, contractors and agents the following information about its policies and certain relevant Federal and State laws. This policy will be amended as necessary to comply with any state and federal regulations promulgated pursuant to the requirements of Section 6032 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 and the State Medicaid and Medicare Plan.

DEFINITIONS

This policy applies to all officers, employees, contractors and agents of VillageCare and its affiliated entities (“the organization”). For purposes of this Policy and Procedure, the following definitions shall apply:

1. The term “officer” shall mean each of the officers duly appointed pursuant to the corporate by-laws of VillageCare and its affiliated entities.

2. The term “employee” shall mean employees, students, trainees, volunteers, officers, contractors, agents, and members of the Medical and Dental Staff of the organization.
3. The term “contractor” or “agent” shall mean any contractor, subcontractor, agent or other person which or who, on behalf of the organization, furnishes, or otherwise authorizes the furnishing of health care items or services, performs billing or coding functions, or is involved in the monitoring of health care provided by the organization.
4. The term “claim” shall mean any request or demand, whether under a contract or otherwise, for money or property if the Federal government provides any portion of the money or property in question. This includes requests or demands submitted to a contractor of the Government and includes Medicare and Medicaid claims.
5. The term “false claim” shall mean any claim which I, either whole or part false or fraudulent.
6. The term “knowing and knowingly” shall mean that a person with respect to information has actual knowledge of information; acts in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information.
7. The term “obligation” shall mean an established duty, whether or not fixed, arising from an express or implied contractual, grantor-grantee, or license-licensee relationship, from a fee-based or similar relationship, from statute or regulation, or from the retention of any overpayment.

PROCEDURE

To assist the organization in meeting its legal and ethical obligations, any employee who reasonably suspects or is aware of the preparation or submission of a false claim or report or any other potential fraud, waste, or abuse related to a Federally or State funded health care program is required to report such information to his/her supervisor or the organization’s corporate compliance officer. Any employee of the organization who reports such information will have the right and opportunity to do so anonymously and will be protected against retaliation for coming forward with such information both under the organization’s internal compliance policies and procedures and Federal and State law. However, the organization retains the right to take appropriate action against an employee who has participated in a violation of Federal or State law or organizational policy.

The organization commits itself to investigate any suspicions of fraud, waste, or abuse swiftly and thoroughly and requires all employees to assist in such investigations. If an employee believes that the organization is not responding to his or her report within a reasonable period of time, the employee shall bring these concerns about the organization’s perceived inaction to the organization’s corporate compliance officer. Failure to report and disclose or assist in an investigation of fraud and abuse is a breach of the employee’s obligations to the corporate compliance officer and may result in disciplinary action.

This Policy and Procedures and a summary of the federal and state laws (as they may be amended from time to time) applicable to this Policy and Procedures shall be posted electronically on the website of the organization located at www.villagecare.org/compliance.

The organization will certify on or before January 1st annually with the New York State Office of Medicaid Inspector General (“OMIG”) that it complies with the education requirements of the Deficit Reduction Act 2005 regarding false claims recoveries that:

- it maintains a written policy,
- employee handbook includes materials, required under the mandate and that they have been properly adopted, published and disseminated.

FEDERAL & NEW YORK STATUTES RELATING TO FILING FALSE CLAIMS

I. FEDERAL LAWS

False Claims Act (31 USC §§3729-3733)

The False Claims Act ("FCA") provides, in pertinent part, that:

(a) Any person who (1) knowingly presents, or causes to be presented, to an officer or employee of the United States Government or a member of the Armed Forces of the United States a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval; (2) knowingly makes, uses, or causes to be made or used, a false record or statement to get a false or fraudulent claim paid or approved by the Government; (3) conspires to defraud the Government by getting a false or fraudulent claim paid or approved by the Government. . . or (7) knowingly makes, uses, or causes to be made or used, a false record or statement to conceal, avoid, or decrease an obligation to pay or transmit money or property to the Government, is liable to the United States Government for a civil penalty of not less than $5,000 and not more than $10,000, plus 3 times the amount of damages which the Government sustains because of the act of that person.

(b) For purposes of this section, the terms "knowing" and "knowingly" mean that a person, with respect to information (1) has actual knowledge of the information; (2) acts in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information; or (3) acts in reckless disregard of the truth or falsity of the information, and no proof of specific intent to defraud is required. 31 U.S.C. § 3729. While the False Claims Act imposes liability only when the claimant acts "knowingly," it does not require that the person submitting the claim have actual knowledge that the claim is false. A person who acts in reckless disregard or in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information, also can be found liable under the Act. 31 U.S.C. 3729(b).

In sum, the False Claims Act imposes liability on any person who submits a claim to the federal government that he or she knows (or should know) is false. An example may be a physician who submits a bill to Medicare for medical services she knows she has not provided. The False Claims Act also imposes liability on an individual who may knowingly submit a false record in order to obtain payment from the government. An example of this may include a government contractor who submits records that he knows (or should know) is false and that indicate compliance with certain contractual or regulatory requirements. The third area of liability includes those instances in which someone may obtain money from the federal government to which he may not be entitled, and then uses false statements or records in order to retain the money. An example of this so-called "reverse false claim" may include a hospital who obtains interim payments from Medicare throughout the year, and then knowingly files a false cost report at the end of the year in order to avoid making a refund to the Medicare program.

In addition to its substantive provisions, the FCA provides that private parties may bring an action on behalf of the United States. 31 U.S.C. 3730 (b). These private parties, known as "qui tam relators," may share in a percentage of the proceeds from an FCA action or settlement. Section 3730(d)(1) of the FCA provides, with some exceptions, that a qui tam relator, when the Government has intervened in the lawsuit, shall receive at least 15 percent but not more than 25 percent of the proceeds of the FCA action depending upon the extent to which the relator substantially contributed to the prosecution of the action. When the Government does not intervene, section 3730(d)(2) provides that the relator shall receive an amount that the court decides is reasonable and shall be not less than 25 percent and not more than 30 percent.

Administrative Remedies for False Claims (31 USC Chapter 38. §§ 3801 – 3812)

This statute allows for administrative recoveries by federal agencies. If a person submits a claim that the person knows is false or contains false information, or omits material information, then the agency receiving the claim may impose a penalty of up to $5,000 for each claim. The agency may also recover twice the amount of the claim. Unlike the False Claims Act, a violation of this law occurs when a false claim is submitted, not when it is paid. Also unlike the False Claims Act, the determination of whether a claim is false, and the imposition of fines and penalties is made by the administrative agency, not by prosecution in the federal court system.

II. NEW YORK STATE LAWS

New York's false claims laws fall into two categories: civil and administrative; and criminal laws. Some apply to recipient false claims and some apply to provider false claims, and while most are specific to healthcare or Medicaid, some of the "common law" crimes apply to areas of interaction with the government.

A. CIVIL AND ADMINISTRATIVE LAWS

NY False Claims Act (State Finance Law, §§187-194)

The NY False Claims Act closely tracks the federal False Claims Act. It imposes penalties and fines on individuals and entities that file false or fraudulent claims for payment from any state or local government, including health care programs such as Medicaid. The penalty for filing a false claim is $6,000 - $12,000 per claim and the recoverable damages are between two and three times the value of the amount falsely received. In addition, the false claim filer may have to pay the government's legal fees.

The Act allows private individuals to file lawsuits in state court, just as if they were state or local government parties. If the suit eventually concludes with payments back to the government, the person who started the case can recover 25-30% of the proceeds if the government did not participate in the suit of 15-25% if the government did participate in the suit.

Social Services Law §145-b False Statements

It is a violation to knowingly obtain or attempt to obtain payment for items or services furnished under any Social Services program, including Medicaid, by use of a false statement, deliberate concealment or other fraudulent scheme or device. The State or the local Social Services district may recover three times the amount incorrectly paid. In addition, the Department of Health may impose a civil penalty of up to $2,000 per violation. If repeat violations occur within 5 years, a penalty up to $7,500 per violation may be imposed if they involve more serious violations of Medicaid rules, billing for services not rendered or providing excessive services.

Social Services Law §145-c Sanctions

If any person applies for or receives public assistance, including Medicaid, by intentionally making a false or misleading statement, or intending to do so, the person's, the person's family's needs are not taken into account for 6 months if a first offense, 12 months if a second (or once if benefits received are over $3,900) and live years for 4 or more offenses.

B. CRIMINAL LAWS

Social Services Law §145 Penalties

Any person who submits false statements or deliberately conceals material information in order to receive public assistance, including Medicaid, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Social Services Law § 366-b, Penalties for Fraudulent Practices.

III. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTIONS

Federal False Claims Act (31 U.S.C. §3730(h))

The FCA provides protection to qui tam relators who are discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or in any other manner discriminated against in the terms and conditions of their employment as a result of their furtherance of an action under the FCA. 31 U.S.C. 3730(h). Remedies include reinstatement with comparable seniority as the qui tam relator would have had but for the discrimination, two times the amount of any back pay, interest on any back pay, and compensation for any special damages sustained as a result of the discrimination, including litigation costs and reasonable attorneys' fees.

NY False Claim Act (State Finance Law §191)

The False Claim Act also provides protection to qui tam relators who are discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or in any other manner discriminated against in the terms and conditions of their employment as a result of their furtherance of an action under the Act. Remedies include reinstatement with comparable seniority as the qui tam relator would have had but for the discrimination, two times the amount of any back pay, interest on any back pay, and compensation for any special damages sustained as a result of the discrimination, including litigation costs and reasonable attorneys' fees.

New York Labor Law §740

An employer may not take any retaliatory action against an employee if the employee discloses information about the employer's policies, practices or activities to a regulatory, law enforcement or other similar agency or public official. Protected disclosures are those that assert that the employer is in violation of a law that creates a substantial and specific danger to the public health and safety or which constitutes health care fraud under Penal Law § 177 (knowingly filing, with intent to defraud, a claim for payment that intentionally has false information or omissions). The employee's disclosure is protected only if the employee first brought up the matter with a supervisor and gave the employer a reasonable opportunity to correct the alleged violation. If an employer takes a retaliatory action against the employee, the employee may sue in state court for reinstatement to the same, or an equivalent position, any lost back wages and benefits and attorneys' fees. If the employer is a health provider and the court finds that the employer's retaliatory action was in bad faith, it may impose a civil penalty of $10,000 on the employer.

New York Labor Law §741

A health care employer may not take any retaliatory action against an employee if the employee discloses certain information about the employer's policies, practices or activities to a regulatory, law enforcement or other similar agency or public official. Protected disclosures are those that assert that, in good faith, the employee believes constitute improper quality of patient care. The employee's disclosure is protected only if the employee first brought up the matter with a supervisor and gave the employer a reasonable opportunity to correct the alleged violation, unless the danger is imminent to the public or patient and the employee believes in good faith that reporting to a supervisor would not result in corrective action. If an employer takes a retaliatory action against the employee, the employee may sue in state court for reinstatement to the same, or an equivalent position, any lost back wages and benefits and attorneys' fees. If the employer is a health provider and the court finds that the employer's retaliatory action was in bad faith, it may impose a civil penalty of $10,000 on the employer.
